

La Maison Dalauze and Les Appartements Dalauze

La Maison Dalauze and Les Appartements Dalauze are committed to supporting abused women and their children towards a life without violence where they become the real architects of lasting change.

The women and children who are housed have the right to psychosocial follow-up to better understand their experience of violence; intervention in legal support to carry out legal and social reintegration procedures; youth intervention to help reduce the impact of violence on children and mothers.

They offer the same intervention services externally.

“Les Appartements Dalauze” is supervised by low-rent apartments where women and children can rebuild themselves for about a year and learn to live sustainably in an environment free of violence.

They operate a warehouse to collect used furniture for women who need it; in short, they try to offer all the services that can support and facilitate the lives of women and children who have had the courage to leave a violent environment.
